istrative reasons. There has been no complaint registered about the presence of the ships in the Roads, and none will be, and the Navy Department will adhere to its original plan of rendezvousing the ships in Hampton Roads. Of course, they cannot stay there, because many of them are not desired any longer, and will be appraised and sold either to their original owners or to other parties.

"On the beat from Washington this morning were Captain Higginson and Captain Taylor, two of the members of the Naval Examining Board, who are to inspect the warships. They will pick out what vessels are not wanted, and these, of course, will be sent away. In the mean time their places here will be taken by other ships from southern stations.

NO NAVAL REVIEW. "There will be no naval review at the present time, but that does not mean that there will never be one. Assistant-Secre tary-of-the-Navy Allen and Commodo Crowninshield gave as their reason for this decision that peace has not finally restored, and the warships may be needed at any time. Until we have perfect peace we cannot have a naval review. When the matter is considered from the proper standpoint, do we want a naval re view now? I should say no, for the very good reason that the best ships of the good reason that the best ships of the ome time. "While at the Navy Department I ob Senator Martin stated in the presence of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy that as soon as the harbor leading to Norfolk had been dredged to a depth of twenty-eight feat he would make a stroke for a large dry-dock at Norfolk. He also stated that he is confident that he can get an appropriation for this pur-pose through with little difficulty." THE NAVAL EXAMINING BOARD.

The Examining Board appointed by the Navy Department to inspect the vessels selecting those not desirable for future use, arrived at Old Point this morning on the Washington alcamer, and are the Washington steamer, and are now registered at the Chamberlin Hotel, They are Captain J. F. Higginson, of the bat tleship Massachusetts; Captain Taylor, of the Indiana; Lieutenaut C. L. Brunson, of the Yankee; and Chief-Engineer George W. Stigers. The board went out to the fleet this afternoon, and spent some hours in inspecting the auxiliary ships, taking the small vessels first. The officers will remain at Old Point several days, it is believed.

Johnson Graham, a colored man employ ed as a driver for the Richmond Transfer Company, was arrested yesterday on the charge of having in his possession and trying to pawn three tickets, which belonged to Mrs. Sewell, of Newbury, S. C., and which were lost in this city a few days ago.

The facts in this case are interesting. Mrs. Sewell was passing through Richmond some days ago, and lost a pocket book, containing the three tickets and $40 in currency. As soon as the lady learned of her loss she advised Colonel H. M. Boykin, general agent for the Seaboard Air-Line, of the circumstance. The ticket and pawnbrokers of the city were notified to watch out for the tickets, and so vesnel Boykin that tickets answering the description of those lost had been offered to him, but were refused, though he had taken their numbers. Colonel Boykin tele-graphed to Mrs. Sewell, and learned that these numbers were the same as on her tickets. Later in the day the same man presented them at Rosendorf's, and Coloel Boykin was again notified. He 'phoned Captain Angle, at the Second Police Station, and Policeman Sutton went immediately to Rosendorf's and arrested Graham. He is now locked up at the Second Station, and goes to the Police Court at 9:30 o'clock. None of the money
